Programme Manager Appointed

CAE is happy to announce that it has recruited London-based Amanda Warren as manager of its industry programme Best Practice in the Procurement and Delivery of Construction Services. The Centre is aiming to take a leading role in facilitating the sharing of construction best practice in this country.

In her 14 years in procurement and supply chain performance, Amanda has been project manager for the UK industry Knowledge Exchange operated by the Constructing Excellence programme and operations director for Mace Performance Management. In recent years, Amanda has focused on developing integrated supply teams for major construction. She has also been responsible for designing and implementing corporate change programmes.
